

Biography Stijn Demeulenaere

Stijn Demeulenaere is a sound artist, field recordist and composer. Since 2009 he's creating installations, soundscapes and performances, and works for dance and theatre. He researches the relationship between identity, sound and listening; trying to unravel social structures, personal history and the unconscious imagination of people. In his field recordings he's exploring the relationship between sound, space and listening. Stijn is attracted to sound because of its directness, its malleability, and its mystery.

Stijn is associated artist with Kunstenwerkplaats in Brussels. He exhibited in Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Germany, Italy, Portugal, Austria, Spain, Brazil, Canada and the UK. Stijn was nominated for LOOP Discovery Award, the European Sound Art Award. His work won prizes at the the 2019 Engine Room International Sound Art Award, and the Musica soundscape prize and the Grand Prix of the Split Videoart Festival.
